Dear Friend,

The High Holidays are once again fast approaching. As you begin planning for your annual traditions, we at the Jewish Journal are planning, too. At the end of August we will publish our special Rosh Hashanah issue, full of interesting articles, recipes, and more.

As always, it will also include your holiday greetings to your friends and family. Please take this opportunity to wish them a happy New Year, and support the continuation of the Jewish Journal at the same time.

Thanks to readers and supporters like you, the Jewish Journal has continued to thrive. We're able to tell the story of our community, as well as provide news. Each issue brings you articles, features, and other information of local and national Jewish interest. Thank you for helping make that possible with your New Year greeting.

On the reverse of this letter, please find a form to use to reserve your greetings space.

L'shana tova!
